Horseback Riding Returns to Wild Horse Valley Four Star Farm Relocates to Kenzo Estate

Kenzo Estate has announced that Four Star Farm, a highly respected equestrian training center has moved its Napa location to the south end of Kenzo Estate at the former site of Wild Horse Valley Ranch. The company's Bodega location will remain in operation.

Four Star Farm specializes in the training of horse and rider for the eventing and dressage disciplines.

Head Trainer Natalie Rooney Pitts, U.S. equestrian team member and Olympic hopeful, learned to ride at the Wild Horse Valley Ranch property that eventually became Kenzo Estate starting at the age of six. She has successfully ridden at the four-star level in eventing and through the FEI levels of dressage, has ridden on the U.S. Team for eventing, and earned a U.S.D.F. Silver Medal in dressage. Natalie also graduated with distinction from the USDF Judges L-program.

Four Star Farm offers lessons, training, coaching at shows, clinics, and a state-of-the art rehabilitation program for sport horse injuries. Quality horses are also available for lease and for sale. The company also offers a recognized Pony Club Riding Center Program for youths who do not own their own horses.

Four Star Farm is located at 7471 Wild Horse Valley Road in Napa . To inquire about Four Star Farm's services, please call 707.312.1119 or visit www.fourstarfarm.com. Arrangements to participate in Four Star Farm's equestrian activities can only be made directly through Four Star Farm.

"Kenzo Estate is delighted to have Natalie, her horses, and her students come to this land. It is such a special place and deserves to be shared with the community as it was in the past," said Kaz Kano, COO of Kenzo Estate.

Kenzo Estate, located at 3200 Monticello Road in Napa , is open for tastings by appointment only seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Appointments can be made by calling 877.977.7704 or visiting www.kenzoestate.com.
